DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-7, 46-49, and 53-54, drawn to a non-differential type capacitive pressure sensor, classified in class 73, subclass 724.
- II. Claims 8-17, drawn to a pressure system that includes a pressure regulator and pressure sensor, classified in class 137, subclass 599.01.
- III. Claims 18-21, drawn to a semi conductive pressure sensor, classified in class 73, subclass 754.
- IV. Claims 22-27, drawn to a combination pressure sensor integrated with an ARS device, classified in class 73, subclass 714.
- V. Claims 28-34, drawn to a method of manufacturing a pressure sensor, classified in class 438, subclass 433.
- VI. Claims 35-40, drawn to a method of fabricating a combination pressure sensor and ARS device, classified in class 438, subclass 48.
- VII. Claims 41-45 and 50-52, drawn to a piezoresistive type pressure sensor, classified in class 73, subclass 727.
- VIII. Claims 55-56, drawn to a method of making a capacitive pressure sensor, classified in class 438, subclass 689.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions (I-IV and VII) and (V, VI & VIII) are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case both (1) and (2) above apply.

Inventions IV and I/II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, both of these tests are met.

Inventions II and the other apparatus groups are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation, different functions, and different effects.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each Group is not required for the other respective Groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
